

...bringing more drugs to market
unleashing the potential of poorly soluble drugs

Project Manager Product Development R&D (m/f)

leon-nanodrugs GmbH, based in Munich, Germany is a specialized product development company dedicated to developing a pipeline of enhanced versions of existing drug products, and providing services to enable pre-clinical and clinical stage formulations for our clients NCEs or branded established drugs.

Responsibilities:

- Project coordination and project management of development projects within an interdisciplinary team, including project budgeting and ensuring quality and time plans from development to market launch
- Organization and coordination of the interfaces between the areas of development, (pre-) clinical testing and manufacturing
- Ensuring of a high degree of transparency in project management and documentation

Qualifications:

- University degree Life Sciences and 4+ years of experience within a project management role in pharmaceutical or biotech industry, CRO, CMO or equivalent
- Experience in managing external collaborations and service providers
- Working knowledge of drug product development
- Ability to interpret and present scientific development results
- Sound knowledge on MS Office tools (MS Project, Excel, Word, PowerPoint)

We offer you the opportunity to join a modern and innovative company, in which you can play an active role in designing your own future.

If you feel that our values are in line with yours and that you have the drive to grow and succeed, we are very excited to hear more from you and discuss the opportunity you may have in the company.

Please, mail your electronic application including your CV to: info@leon-nanodrugs.com

We will quickly get in contact to talk with you about your next steps.

leon-nanodrugs GmbH
Kopernikusstr. 9
D-81679 München
Phone: +49 89 41 42 48 890
www.leon-nanodrugs.com